

THE above figures represent the dates of THE WORLD'S HALF - RATE SITUATION DAYS this month.

Only 10 cts. per line for "Situations" and only 10 cts. per line for "Help" "Wants" on these days.

PRICE ONE CENT.

LOOK LIKE A BUFF

Is Supervisor John L. Davenport at His Old Tricks?

Thousands of Warrants for Alleged Illegally Registered Voters.

But Only a Few of the Many Sent Out Served.

Special deputy marshals by the score appeared in the corridors of the Post-Office Building this morning.

They belonged to the squads sworn in by Supervisor John L. Davenport, which were sent out last night to scour the city in search of illegal voters.

Each squad was under the leadership of a Deputy United States Marshal, and consisted of from fifteen to twenty men. They were dispatched about 11 o'clock last night from Marshal Jacobus's office to the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth, Sixteenth and Twenty-second Assembly Districts.

The chief of each squad was usually supplied with warrants for the arrest of alleged violators of the registration laws, the names having been selected by Supervisor Davenport and his assistants from the registration lists, which were placed in his hands a week ago.

It was said this morning that between 400 and 500 warrants were placed in the hands of the raiders last night and that Johnny Davenport has not yet seen more than 1,000 in his hands.

A large number of them, however, will probably be rejected by the district judges, among the various election places where checkmates in the registration is suspected.

The result of last night's raiding parties was disappointing to the election authorities, for as few as could be turned up to noon to-day.

It is at least the opinion of those who were brought down to the Federal Building last night and locked up in the corridors, that the raiding parties were not very successful.

Stanley warned that Lieutenant Jameson's Friends Won't Be Behind him.

London, Nov. 3.—Andrew Jameson, the brother of the late Jameson, who died of cancer, is reported to have been in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

It is reported that Jameson was in the city for some time, and that he was in the city for some time.

NO LIGHT IN THE EDGAR CASE.

Growing Belief that the Old Man Was Deceived and Murdered.

His Nephews Have Disappeared—Brother Sumner's Tales of Mystery.

The mystery of the death of the wealthy old English druggist, James H. Edgar, in the City House at New York, is rather deepened today by the passage of a week.

He had registered at the hotel under the name of George Smith. A note, unsigned, was found in the room, stating that he was driven to despair and death by the infamy of a few persons.

A coroner's jury decided that "George Smith" had committed suicide by morphine poisoning, and a grave was hurriedly dug for him in Potter's field. Before it was filled, however, the body was taken to a private mortuary, where it was placed in a coffin.

Mr. Sumner had the body embalmed, and yesterday it was decedently interred at Mr. Sumner's expense, but no autopsy was held to determine the cause of death.

The mystery of the death of Edgar baffles the best efforts of Inspector Byrne's men. Sumner is the only source of information so far found, and the story he tells is a perplexing one, to say the least.

According to his statements, Mr. Edgar was introduced to him in 1886 by Robert Rowe, who claimed to be Mr. Edgar's nephew. Sumner had met Rowe previously, while the latter was employed in Edgar's drug store.

Later Rowe became the agent of the drug firm of F. & C. Co., of London, and had an office at the corner of Broadway and Fulton street. It was while he was in the latter place that he introduced Edgar as his uncle to Sumner.

George H. Edgar, another alleged nephew of the old man, accompanied him. Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Young Edgar did most of the talking at the first interview, and declared that he was the son of the old man, and that he was in the city for some time.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

Mr. Sumner said that he had met Edgar once or twice, but that he did not know him.

DILLON AND O'BRIEN RESTING.

The Irish Patriots Are 'A'gued After Their Long Voyage.

Welcomed by State and City Officials—Plan of Their Tour.

The golden harp of Erin on a field of verdant green floats from the Hoffman House flag-staff today, and tells to all New York that we have among us as guests the ablest and most distinguished of Irish politicians and two of the most beautiful Irishwomen.

The party consists of John Dillon, the tall, gaunt, sparsely-haired Irish patriot; William O'Brien, the world-famed Irish orator; T. D. Sullivan, who was once Lord Mayor of Dublin; Timothy Harrington and the two ladies, Catherine and Mrs. Sullivan.

They arrived on the La Champagne yesterday, and were received down the bay by a party of 300 citizens, who met the steamship on the middle-west steamer John E. Moore at quarantine, and gave a hearty welcome to the men who are devoting their lives to the cause of the dear little old over the sea.

Among the 300 were David L. Carey, Col. Cavanagh, of the Sixty-ninth; Judge Edward Browne, M. J. Kennedy, Gen. O'Brien, Henry A. Vearle, K. J. Glavin, Capt. H. C. McCarthy, John A. Cleary, Joseph Carey, Col. McNulty, of Alabama; John Tierney, Peter Clark, Dr. Frank Ingram, William Hammer, J. Sprague, J. E. T. Kane and John J. Hogan.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

At the pier, T. D. O'Connell, M. P., who had preceded the other Irish visitors to America, and School Commissioner Miles O'Brien headed another enthusiastic delegation of citizens, and still later, when the celebrated Irishmen reached the Hoffman House, they found Judge David L. Hill and Mayor Grant with their friends.

They found also in the Hoffman House, Secretary H. J. Jackson, of Castle Garden; Dr. McDonald, the railroad manager; Secretary William Smith, of the National Education Society; Robert H. Roosevelt, ex-Mayor of New York; John McCarthy, of the Manhattan branch of the Irish League; and the Hon. Alfred C. Cook, President of the City of New York.

HOW TO VOTE

Full Instructions for Compliance with the New Ballot Law.

Betting Heavily in Favor of Tammany's Success.

Fifteen Million Ballots Prepared—Predictions of the Factions.

For looking at complete instructions for voting to-morrow under the new election law, when you enter the polling-place give your name and residence.

A clerk will hand you a complete set of ballots, one of these will be Democratic, another Republican and so on, but there is nothing to show you where to vote. It is advisable, therefore, to have in your pocket a list of the candidates for whom you intend to vote. You cannot vote any but an official ballot, but the list will serve as a memorandum in selecting your ticket if you vote straight, or in making up a ticket to suit you if you do not.

In making up the ticket, you must select the ballot you wish to vote from the bunch given you by the clerk. If you wish to alter it by scratching or pasting, you can do so just as in the old system.

Each ballot has a perforated line running across it near the top. All below that line is the ballot; all above it is the stub, or coupon. When your ballot is ready you must fold it twice, once lengthwise and once crosswise.

You can do this in either of two ways: You can first fold from the bottom up to the perforated line, and then fold the other way, with a crease down the middle; or you can first fold from side to side, with the crease down the middle, and then fold the bottom up to the perforated line. In Brooklyn the first plan is recommended by the election officers; in New York the opinion is that the other is the way prescribed by the law. The Attorney-General has ruled that either way is permissible.

When folded, the face of the ballot must be completely concealed and the indorsement on the back must not be visible.

After you have folded the ballot you must vote, fold all the others given to you separately in the same way. Be careful not to get the one to be voted mixed with the others.

When ready, go to the officer at the boxes and hand him the ballot you wish to vote. He will tear off the stub and put it into a box provided for that purpose. He will then put your ticket in the ballot-box. Give him all the rest of your ballots—those that you do not wish to vote. He will tear off the stubs, throw them into a box specially provided for them, and then throw the unused tickets into still another box.

They are very careful not to let you see correctly, and especially that he puts your right ballot into the right box.

If you wish you can take a complete paper ballot with you, paste it on any one of the ballots given to you by the clerk, and vote that. Just be careful to paste it below the perforated line, and not to let any of the edges extend beyond those of the ballot.

You must stay at least three minutes in the booth, and you must not let any of the edges of the ballot extend beyond those of the ballot.

If you are blind or because of any other physical defect are unable to do so, you may have a helper, who must be a person known to you, and who must be a person known to you.

What will be the issue of to-morrow's election? The answer is, the issue of the Tammany ticket.

The "serried ranks of Tammany Hall" will scatter their untold mob like chaff before the wind of the election. The Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

ON THE RAGGED EDGE.

Full Instructions for Compliance with the New Ballot Law.

Betting Heavily in Favor of Tammany's Success.

Fifteen Million Ballots Prepared—Predictions of the Factions.

For looking at complete instructions for voting to-morrow under the new election law, when you enter the polling-place give your name and residence.

A clerk will hand you a complete set of ballots, one of these will be Democratic, another Republican and so on, but there is nothing to show you where to vote. It is advisable, therefore, to have in your pocket a list of the candidates for whom you intend to vote. You cannot vote any but an official ballot, but the list will serve as a memorandum in selecting your ticket if you vote straight, or in making up a ticket to suit you if you do not.

In making up the ticket, you must select the ballot you wish to vote from the bunch given you by the clerk. If you wish to alter it by scratching or pasting, you can do so just as in the old system.

Each ballot has a perforated line running across it near the top. All below that line is the ballot; all above it is the stub, or coupon. When your ballot is ready you must fold it twice, once lengthwise and once crosswise.

You can do this in either of two ways: You can first fold from the bottom up to the perforated line, and then fold the other way, with a crease down the middle; or you can first fold from side to side, with the crease down the middle, and then fold the bottom up to the perforated line. In Brooklyn the first plan is recommended by the election officers; in New York the opinion is that the other is the way prescribed by the law. The Attorney-General has ruled that either way is permissible.

When folded, the face of the ballot must be completely concealed and the indorsement on the back must not be visible.

After you have folded the ballot you must vote, fold all the others given to you separately in the same way. Be careful not to get the one to be voted mixed with the others.

When ready, go to the officer at the boxes and hand him the ballot you wish to vote. He will tear off the stub and put it into a box provided for that purpose. He will then put your ticket in the ballot-box. Give him all the rest of your ballots—those that you do not wish to vote. He will tear off the stubs, throw them into a box specially provided for them, and then throw the unused tickets into still another box.

They are very careful not to let you see correctly, and especially that he puts your right ballot into the right box.

If you wish you can take a complete paper ballot with you, paste it on any one of the ballots given to you by the clerk, and vote that. Just be careful to paste it below the perforated line, and not to let any of the edges extend beyond those of the ballot.

You must stay at least three minutes in the booth, and you must not let any of the edges of the ballot extend beyond those of the ballot.

If you are blind or because of any other physical defect are unable to do so, you may have a helper, who must be a person known to you, and who must be a person known to you.

What will be the issue of to-morrow's election? The answer is, the issue of the Tammany ticket.

The "serried ranks of Tammany Hall" will scatter their untold mob like chaff before the wind of the election. The Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

While both sides are so confident of success, however, Tammany's friends are the only ones who are not so confident.

Supporting Tammany has begun to offer its money on the re-election of Mayor Grant, and the Tammany ticket is a popular uprising, which will reinforce us at the polls, and Tammany will be utterly routed.

How the bets are being made. The bets are being made in the city and in the country.

IT PAYS TO KEEP WITH THE CROWD.

THE CROWD who seek "Help" or "Situations" use WORLD "Wants" on Mondays and Saturdays and pay Half Rates only.

Betting Heavily in Favor of Tammany's Success.

Fifteen Million Ballots Prepared—Predictions of the Factions.

For looking at complete instructions for voting to-morrow under the new election law, when you enter the polling-place give your name and residence.

A clerk will hand you a complete set of ballots, one of these will be Democratic, another Republican and so on, but there is nothing to show you where to vote. It is advisable, therefore, to have in your pocket a list of the candidates for whom you intend to vote. You cannot vote any but an official ballot, but the list will serve as a memorandum in selecting your ticket if you vote straight, or in making up a ticket to suit you if you do not.

In making up the ticket, you must select the ballot you wish to vote from the bunch given you by the clerk. If you wish to alter it by scratching or pasting, you can do so just as in the old system.

Each ballot has a perforated line running across it near the top. All below that line is the ballot; all above it is the stub, or coupon. When your ballot is ready you must fold it twice, once lengthwise and once crosswise.

You can do this in either of two ways: You can first fold from the bottom up to the perforated line, and then fold the other way, with a crease down the middle; or you can first fold from side to side, with the crease down the middle, and then fold the bottom up to the perforated line. In Brooklyn the first plan is recommended by the election officers; in New York the